

K-LOVE is the only radio station that plays in my car. It has been an incredibly positive influence on my children and their friends. If K-LOVE was displaced on the air, the options for positive radio are basically non-existent. My daughter commented that only songs on K-LOVE are always uplifting, but other stations tend to play many negative songs. I know many of my friends listen to K-LOVE, and I see many K-LOVE bumper stickers on cars around town, so I know many people are listening to this station. Every encouraging influence we can have to assist in raising our children is critical.
